J.F.K. ASSASSINATED

On Friday morning, November 22, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the President and first lady, arrived at Love Field in the Presidential Airplane, Air Force I. The President and Mrs. Kennedy were greeted by a friendly and cheering crowd, unlike the one which had greeted Adlai Stevenson just a few weeks before.

President Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy, Governor and Mrs. Connally all got into the Presidential auto and proceeded from the airport in the President's motorcade to downtown Dallas where, while driving down one of the main streets in Dallas a sniper in a sixth story window, of a schoolbook distributing company, shot and killed our President. A little after 12:00 three shots were fired and the President and Governor Connally both fell to the floor of the car. The first shot hit President Kennedy in the head. The second hit Governor Connally in the chest and President Kennedy was struck again by the third shot.

Many ironical happenings followed. Lee Harvey Oswald was captured and charged with the killing of the President. After questioning at Dallas police headquarters he was removed to the Dallas county jail and a man identified as Jack Ruby shot and fatally wounded him. Oswald was an ex-marine, who had been given an undesirable discharge in 1960. His only success in the Marines was that he had received a medal for marksmanship, which proved to be most disastrous. Oswald was a member of the "Freedom for Cuba", a left wing group in southern Texas. He had also expressed a desire to be a Russian citizen. Lee Harvey Oswald, not known until Friday, will now go down in history.

The President is dead, long live the President.

IN MEMORY

OUR NEW PRESIDENT

John Fitzgerald Kennedy

we dedicate this issue of the Lanphier Light. To him who gave his life in the service of his country we extend our deepest gratitude for his determination to preserve our freedom.

Lyndon B. Johnson became the 36th President of the United States of America on Friday, November 22, on the Presidential plane at Dallas, Texas. As he was sworn in by a Federal District Judge which his predecessor, John F. Kennedy, had appointed just a year earlier, he was quite aware of the tremendous job he was entering.

Once the undisputed leader of the Senate, President Johnson has had a long and honorable career in public service. At fifty-five, he has been a United States Representative, a Senator, Minority and Majority leader of the Senate, and Vice-President.

"I am a free man, an American, a United States Senator and a Democrat in that order," he has said, "I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a consumer, a parent, a voter and not as young as I used to be or as old as I expect to be—and I am all those things in no fixed order."

His first seat in the Senate was won by 87 votes—the slimmest of margins. Yet he immediately began breaking from his party and section to serve his country. In 1957 he was instrumental in passing a Civil Rights Bill. In 1960 he beat down a filibuster by his Southern colleagues over a civil rights bill. The loss of Southern support for his stand against his section could have cost him the Presidential nomination that year.

Our new president is in a situation unique to this country and this time. He must make changes in his administration to align it with his personality, carry on the Kennedy Administration so as not to destroy his work, guide our country back to normal, and, unless re-elected, he has only eleven months to do his task.

'A RING FROM HER FINGER.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana gave one of the most beautiful and meaningful eulogies in memory of the late President Kennedy. The full text of this speech, given on Sunday, November 24, in the rotunda of the Capitol, after the body of President Kennedy was placed on a catafalque beneath the Capitol dome, is as follows:

There was the sound of laughter and, in a moment, it was no more. And, so, she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands.

There was a wit in a man neither young nor old; but a wit full of an old man's wisdom and of a child's wisdom and, then, in a moment it was no more. And, so, she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands.

There was a man marked with the scars of his love of country, a body active with the surge of life far from spent, and, in a moment it was no more. And, so, she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands.

There was a father with a little boy and a little girl and the joy of each in the other and, in a moment, it was no more. And, so, she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands.

There was a husband who asked much and gave much, and, out of the giving and the asking, wove with a woman what could not be broken in life, and, in a moment, it was no more. And, so, she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands, and kissed him and closed the lid of a coffin.

A piece of each of us died at that moment. Yet, in death he gave of himself to us. He gave us of a good heart from which the laughter came. He gave us of a profound wit, from which a great leadership emerged. He gave us of a kindness and a strength fused into the human courage to seek peace without fear.

He gave us of his love that we, too, in turn might give. He gave that we might give of ourselves, that we might give to one another until there would be no room, no room at all, for the bigotry, hatred, prejudices and the arrogance which converged in that moment of horror to strike him down.

In leaving us— these gifts John Fitzgerald Kennedy, President of the United States, leaves with us. Will we take them, Mr. President? I pray to God that we will.

LIGHT THE WAY OF FREEDOM

A Student's Tribute "Follow In His Footsteps"

The damp and windy morning was a threat itself. Restless students and teachers looked forward to what they thought would be an average weekend.

Suddenly an unbelievable broadcast came from the Public Address System: "Our President, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, has been shot through the temple while riding with the governor of Texas through the streets of Dallas."

Preceding this vicissitude, the students had been smiling, but now their faces were sad and sober. As the bell rang, the dazed pupils wandered to their next class with tears in their eyes and prayers in their hearts. Then the acrimonious announcement came that the people knew would follow: "The President is dead!" Hearts were silent, and a part of everyone's soul had departed with our protector. Although these words had been to the point, their meaning was abstract, especially to his own people.

The tears of the world were expressed in the incessant rain which followed. That night the sky ranged from shades of darkness up to the glowing purity of Heaven. This seems to symbolize his climb of glory in the eyes of the world and God.

Although the following days are depressing and lonely, the sun beams over us like the smile of satisfaction that he must be wearing now. He knows he has more than fulfilled his duty to God and his country.

The hope that his death will have united us closer is the wish of all of us. If we are not to fall into the pit of division, the full support that our late President Kennedy should have received, now must be extended to aid our new leader, President Johnson.

When we work for world freedom and peace, we are showing others our gratitude for this beloved and unforgettable American. We are following in his footsteps.

FOR YOUR CHILDREN

You have had a first hand experience with an event of history; therefore, make a scrapbook so that your children may have a living account. This will help them better understand and have a greater interest in the history and politics of their country.

You should have strong views about politics and discuss them. Politics isn't a trifle matter to be pushed aside with little thought.

FOUR DAYS

1:15 p.m. The funeral cortege moves to Arlington Memorial Cemetery.

1:50 p.m. The 35th President of the United States is buried.

11:53 p.m. Jacqueline Kennedy, the President's widow, returns to the cemetery bearing flowers as a final tribute to her late husband.

John Kennedy Accomplishments

John Fitzgerald Kennedy was born on May 29, 1917, in Brookline, Massachusetts, a suburb of Boston. He was the second son of Joseph Patrick Kennedy and Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy. John was one of eight children. His ancestors were Irish farmers of Wexford County in south-eastern Ireland. As the Kennedy children grew up, their parents encouraged them to develop their own talents and interests.

Kennedy graduated from Choate Academy in Wallingford, Connecticut in 1935 at the age of seventeen. His classmates voted him "most likely to succeed." He entered Harvard University in 1936, where he majored in government and international relations.

In 1939 Kennedy traveled throughout Europe where he acquired views of the crisis that were to lead to World War II in September of that year. Back at Harvard Kennedy wrote his senior thesis about the events that resulted in this war. Kennedy's thesis was published under the title, Why England Slept, and became a best-selling book.

Kennedy graduated in 1940, and several months later he enlisted as a seaman in the United States Navy where he was assigned to a PT boat late in 1942. On August 2, 1943, a Japanese destroyer cut his PT boat in two, and he and his men that were alive clung to a piece of wreckage all through the night. The next day they swam to shore. Despite an injured back, he spent five hours towing one of the disabled crewmen to shore. Kennedy's crew was rescued on August 7, after persuading friendly natives to go for help. For his heroism and leadership, Kennedy received the Navy and Marine Corps Medal in addition to the Purple Heart.

After his older brother, Joe was killed in a plane crash, John decided to go into politics. He began his political career in 1946. He ran for the United States House of Representatives, and in January, 1947, he took his seat in Congress. In 1952 Kennedy ran for and was elected United States Senator from Massachusetts.

In the meantime Kennedy married Jacqueline Lee Bouvier who bore him three children, Caroline 1957, John Jr., 1960 and Patrick, 1963 (deceased).

Kennedy began planning for the 1960 presidential nomination right after the 1956 convention. He spent nearly every weekend campaigning and as a result won re-election to the Senate in 1958.

At the Democratic national convention Kennedy had several opponents for the presidential nomination, but he won on the first ballot. The delegates nominated Johnson for Vice-President.

The Republicans chose Vice-President Richard Nixon to oppose Kennedy for the presidency. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. was Nixon's running mate.

The 1960 Campaign was a hard-fought race. Both candidates were young, vigorous campaigners. Though Nixon had the advantage of being Vice President under Eisenhower, Kennedy was greatly helped in the four television debates held with Nixon.

Kennedy and Nixon did not disagree sharply on major domestic or foreign policies. Nixon ran chiefly on the record of the Eisenhower administration while Kennedy promised to lead Americans to a "New Frontier."

Kennedy defeated Nixon by fewer than 120,000 popular votes, but he had a clear majority of electoral votes, 303 to 219.

On January 20, 1961, John Fitzgerald Kennedy became the 35th President of the United States.

Fourth To Be Assassinated

President Kennedy's death on November 22 continues the coincidence that Presidents elected at 20 year intervals in zero-numbered years die in office.

FOURTH TO BE ASSASSINATED

The list includes:

- 1840 - William Henry Harrison
- 1860 - Abraham Lincoln
- 1880 - James A. Garfield
- 1900 - William McKinley
- 1920 - Warren G. Harding
- 1940 - Franklin D. Roosevelt
- 1960 - John F. Kennedy

Although President Kennedy was the seventh president to die while in office, he was the fourth to be assassinated. He was the first Democratic presidents, Abraham Lincoln, James Garfield and William McKinley were all Republicans.

Their assassins were all caught and killed outright or executed after trial.

The 16th president, Abraham Lincoln, was shot April 14, 1865 in Ford's Theater in Washington by actor John Wilkes Booth.

Twelve days later Booth was shot to death by soldiers. The shooting occurred in a barn near Port Royal, Va. Four other persons were hanged the following July 7, for complicity; and another four persons, accused of aiding Booth, were sent to prison.

Garfield was shot on July 2, 1881, in a Washington railroad station. The 20th president was assassinated by Charles Guiteau, a disappointed office-seeker. Guiteau was executed.

McKinley, the 25th president, was shot Sept. 6, 1901, in Buffalo, N.Y., and died eight days later. His assassin, an anarchist named Czolgosz, was also executed.

Three other presidents had been subjects of assassin attempts. They were: Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

"THANKS BE TO THEE"

As a tribute to John F. Kennedy, our martyred President, the annual Thanksgiving program this year carried the theme "Ask not what your country can do for you, but rather what you can do for your country."

After the American flag was presented, everyone in attendance sang the "Star Spangled Banner" in unison with the choir. The theme of the assembly was given followed by the choir singing "America." The program then proceeded unannounced. David Meyer gave President Kennedy's Thanksgiving Proclamation, and Vickie Williams read the One Hundredth Psalm. Other selections sung by the choir included "America the Beautiful", "A Prayer of Thanksgiving", "Let All Things Now Living", and "Thanks be to Thee". The program was closed with the singing of the beautiful "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by the A Cappella choir.

The annual Can and Dime Drive was held during the weeks of November 11-15 and November 18-22. The purpose of this drive was to collect cans of food and dimes, or any donation the students desired to give. The cans were given to 120 needy families in the Springfield area and the donations paid for the meat given to these families also.

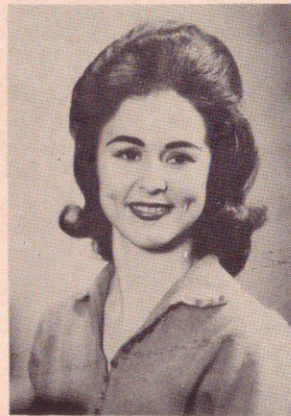

The representatives for this drive at Lanphier were Cheri Hood, Chairman; Karen Redpath; Mardena Waller; and Beverly Kopp.

Lanphier collected 118 cans of food and $57.05 in money. The Lanphier Student Council representatives assisted with this drive.

FORMER ALL STATE TWIRLER

This year's Office Occupation's coordinator is Miss Shirley Gann. Before coming to Lanphier Miss Gann had held the positions of medical secretary at Veteran's Administration, an assistant teacher in graduate school, and last year as a secretary at the University of Illinois.

She has attended Golf Park College at Gulf Port, Mississippi; Mississippi State College for Women; and graduate school at the University of Mississippi.

For ten years Miss Gann was engaged in the study of ballet, tap, acrobatics and piano. She also taught these arts for about one year. These studies helped her become the feature twirler with her high school band and the Lion's All State Twirler. As a Lion's All State Twirler she performed at Miami, Florida and San Francisco, California at the Lion's International Convention.

Another of Miss Gann's interests is waterskiing.

F.T.A. Meeting Interested Many

The Future Teachers of America were very pleased at the fine show of students attending the meeting on Wednesday, November 20, in the girls' study hall. The dean of girls, Mrs. McCassey, talked about the hidden costs of colleges, and Mr. Brooks, dean of boys, spoke to the group about the local availability of scholarships and the methods of applying for them. There were over 85 students and a few parents in attendance. If these students do attain their desire to attend college, Lanphier High will have had an important part in it.

SECRETARIES

At the December meeting of the Future Secretaries of America, each school is to stage a skit that pertains to Christmas. Each of the five schools will participate, and each skit is to be approximately fifteen minutes long. These different skits are to be made up from ideas planned and rehearsed at each school, and the girls then will display their talents at this meeting. The Future Secretaries monthly meeting will be held at Feitshans the eighteenth of December at 7:00. Lanphier's F.S.A. has already chosen their committee which is in the process of planning their skit.

Awards

Last August, at the Illinois State Fair, several Lanphier students exhibited work. Mr. Williams' Industrial Arts classes were represented with musical instruments they had made. Those who had an instrument shown were: Charles Paoni—madolin, Jerry Turnbull—uketar, Tom Clement—uketar, Jack Leich—gun rack, Larry Hayes—mandolin, Don Geystone—guitar, Ray Choquet—guitar, Robert Wanless—uketar, and Tom Heck—gutar.

Mr. Miller's drafting department was also represented. F.H.A. (Future Homemakers of America) had four exhibits. 1. Floor coverings — types and care given to each. 2. Picture as center of interest — made color scheme, drapes, rugs, upholstery, and accents blend in the colors in the picture. 3. Buttons, bows, buckles, belts—proper and improper way to cook cheese and eggs. The girls participating in these exhibits were: Sandy Barrow, Judy Baxley, Iva Brown, Janet Combs, Nancy Eynm, Margaret Gaffigan, Joyce Parker, and Elaine Wilson. Miss Wineman and Mrs. Ingersoll were the faculty advisors.

These groups all received excellent ratings on their exhibits at the fair.

The Light wishes to commend these students and advisors for their fine accomplishments.

THE BAND PLAYS ON

After the final strains of the bands' last football half-time performance, Drum Major Wayne Farley presented each of the three majorettes with a nosegay in appreciation of her fine work this season.

Captain Nancy Birkman, after having performed a solo number for her last twirling experience, was the first to receive the colorful flower. Nancy has been a majorette for three years. Next, Wayne made the presentation to Linda Strode, a veteran of two years. Finally the honor was bestowed upon Karen Metzroth who was completing her first year.

The girls worked hard to perfect each show, and their performance was a definite asset to the band.

LIONS TO OPEN SEASON

On Friday and Saturday the Lanphier Lions, who finished third in state last year, will open their '63-'64 season at Athens and Peoria Central. Athens will be the Lions first prey, with Lanphier meeting Peoria Central on Saturday night at Peoria.

The Lions are looking forward to a hard pressed season if they hope to equal or improve upon last years 3rd place finish in state. The Lions have one basic point on which to center their entire offense and defense and that is around Calvin Pettit. The coach, Arlyn Lober, said that the teams worst worries are with the forward positions. The team lost both its forwards last year along with the starting guards. The members of last years team who are missing include; forwards, Les Coats and Dave Vose, the two guards, Mike Rodgers and Dwight Lambert, and reserves Dave Powell and Mike Eandi.

Practice for the team has been going on since the conclusion of football season. Cal Pettit missed most of the first part of practice because of illness, but seems to be rolling along just fine.

According to Coach Lober, "Pettit is to be center, but nobody else has won a job." There are many boys trying for a spot on what could be a very successful season, four boys trying out for guard and five boys working hard for a starting position at forward.

The Lions with the same problem as last year, lack of height will have a hard time trying to keep the offense off of Pettit's back. More scoring punch is needed from the guards and forwards as the defense will be basically working against Pettit.

The most promising outlooks of guard have been Dave Barthel, 5'7½" letterman, Ed Killion 5'11", Paul Murphy 5'7", and Joe Franz 5'9½". The five Lions striving for starting positions at forward are letterman Wally Martin 6'2", Corky Keran 6'½", Leon Shanklin 5'11", and John Graves 6'2". Coach Lober also said that Larry England has been a big surprise. He is jumping higher and getting more rebounds than anyone else at forward position.

The coach feels that the main weakness of the team is experience, outside of Pettit there is none.

All of the members of the Light staff wish to express their best wishes for a successful season, and urge all of the students at LHS to back and cheer our Lions on to state again this year.
