Looking back . . .

It seems so long ago since that August day in 1982 when the senior class entered LHS as students for the first time. For many, our freshman year was somewhat traumatic. We were coming from being the oldest students in middle school to being the "freshmen" at Lanphier — and the target of many of the upperclassmen's jokes. How were we supposed to know that the elevator passes which were for sale were useless? During the first couple of days, we all had trouble finding our classes but were too embarrassed to ask, so we just walked around aimlessly. But before we knew it, we were getting into the swing of things and Homecoming was upon us. Activities such as decorating floats at the Fair Grounds, dressing for Spirit Week (who could ever forget the senior guys in their women's lingerie on Pajama Day?), and preparing for the dance made that week fly. After football came basketball and an honor which we were sure would never be equalled. Our mighty Lanphier Boys' Basketball team had an exciting season which ended with a first place win in the Boys' AA State Tournament. Yes, our first year was full of spirit and the enthusiasm of being in high school.

In our second year we looked at the incoming freshmen and wondered if we "were ever like that"? As more and more of us began to get our drivers' licenses, our feelings of superiority grew. Our school spirit increased as we began to feel more at home at LHS, but no one could ever outdo "Big Ed" Madaus and his exuberant show of spirit — which flourished in his senior year. The teachers' strike in the fall of '83 put a welcome halt to school for a while — but then put an extension onto the end of the school year! We all remember feeling cheated because seniors were able to finish finals, graduate and leave school earlier than the rest of us. But before long the countdown for summer began — and we had two down and two to go!

Finally in the ranks of "upperclass", our junior year proved to be quite eventful. In the fall Larphier was honored with a visit from First Lady Nancy Reagan. As winter rolled around so did another basketball season and another winning year for the Lions. This time the guys travelled the long road to Champaign only to be defeated by Mt. Carmel in the championship game. The game went into double overtime with a final score of 46-44. Spring hit and many of us were suddenly a part of Prom for the first time. During that time some juniors developed "senioritis" a tad early! The ACT became a major source of anxiety for college-bound juniors. The main concern for many of the juniors was to speed the calendar up for summer vacation.

Fall 1985 — as seniors we had finally earned the right to feel superior to the other classes! But our superiority was short lived when we got our schedules and couldn't find our rooms because they had all been renumbered during the summer! For once, the freshmen knew their way around better than the seniors! Sooner than we realized the year was quickly diminishing and it was time to plan for college and for jobs and for life in general. All of a sudden we were attending our last Homecoming and our last Prom and undergoing many changes. By spring most of us could hardly endure the senioritis that had set in. Some of our friends were becoming nervous about the future, while others were melancholy about the past. Excitedly we counted down the last few days, took our last high school final exams, and our last walk down the aisle — to get that much coveted diploma!

The Class of 1986 is unique. Our experiences were our own. We can look back on our years at LHS with joy, sorrow, laughter, and anxiety, but mostly with pride — pride in ourselves, our friends, and our school. The past four years prepared us for what lies ahead, and looking back — we wouldn't trade those memories for anything!
